Farmers, and all who want to buy,
Unroll your green-backs, and draw nigh;
For S. Kuebler has for sale
The best Plows, wholesale or retail;
Buggies, Carriages, silver bright,
With farming implements all right.
The McShorey Plow—ne better made—
Come one and all, lets have a trade.
Corn-plows and Cultivators new,
Mowing machines end Reapers, too;
Wagons, of all kinds, ready done,
Hay rakes we're sure are No. one;
With many other things all nice.
So just come in, and learn the price:
Then if you don't want to duy,
There'll be no harm 'twixt you and I. A few good jobs have been made, I confess, Whose success has depended on copying from us:
But unlike the printer—to borrow who must—
They fail to give credit, and yet call it just.

But something else I've got to say,
Do not forget me in the pay.
When iron I buy, or lumber, as you see,
Nothing but money will pay from me;
So come and pay the old account,
And make a new one, good and sound;
New do not put it of too far,
With money in your pocket, and to spare.
And remember, I hesitate net to say
The work we make must be 0. K.
